Join us for an evening of art and inspiration at Overture Galleries' Fall Reception

Madison, Wis. (Oct. 16, 2025) — Join us for a reception and artist talks celebrating the Fall 2025 Overture Galleries on Thursday, Oct. 23 from 5:30-8:30 p.m. with artist talks beginning at 6 p.m. on Rotunda Stage. This season's exhibitions consider the quiet forces that shape our landscapes. Through diverse media, artists reflect on the unseen and visible aspects of the natural world. Drawing on symbolic and spiritual associations, the works evoke wonder, harmony and connection. Meet the artists from all five galleries, hear about their artwork and browse the galleries.

The exhibitions in Galleries I, II and III run through Sunday, Nov. 30, and the Playhouse Gallery and Rotunda Gallery exhibitions run through Sunday, Nov. 16.

FALL EXHIBITIONS:

The Lumosity of Time: Witnessing Earth's Breath

Karen Fitzgerald & Mark Weller

GALLERY I

This work delves into other dimensionality. Weller explores the fourth dimension, time, as he photographs cloudscapes in the upper Midwest. Fitzgerald examines the relationship between matter and spirit through energy and light. Both artists see Earth's breath as a shape shifter, existing as form transformed again and again.

Bloom & Ripple

Lisa L. KC & Janet Nelson

GALLERY II

This exhibit is a serene duet of floral and aquatic paintings, where blossoms meet flowing water. Two artists explore nature's elegance through color, texture and movement, inviting viewers into a world of quiet transformation and reflection.

Interconnected Visions

Laura Annis & Sarah McRae

GALLERY III

This exhibition explores the delicate balance of nature—its harmony, resilience and fragility. Through organic forms and elemental contrasts, each piece invites reflection on our interconnectedness with the environment and the quiet forces that sustain life.

Like A Root in the Dark

Victor Figueroa, Daniel Pimentel-Alarcon, Mark Turner, Karen Watson-Newlin & Douglas Whittle

PLAYHOUSE GALLERY

Five artists explore nature's hidden, fleeting moments through flora, fauna and local landscapes. Their work invites us to notice how the creative process and natural world transform slowly and steadily, revealing growth through patience and time.
